

PARASITIC MANGE.

---

Whereas outbreaks of Parasitic Mange have occurred amongst horses in the Castletown District, Horse-owners are warned to keep their horses under observation, and, in the event of an animal exhibiting symptoms of any skin affection, to at once report the case to the nearest police station, and to keep the animal isolated until it has been examined by the Government Veterinary Inspector under instructions from the Government Office.

By order.

B. E. SARGEAUNT,

Government Secretary.

Government Office,

Isle of Man,

10th September, 1913.