

CHILDREN COLLECTING MONEY.

The attention of His Excellency the Lieutenant-Governor has been directed to a practice which has grown into existence of children being sent out with money-boxes to collect for charitable purposes.

While the objects of the collections in most instances are of a most deserving character yet the practice of sending out children to collect for them is open to grave objection.

His Excellency, therefore, hopes that the public and those controlling charities, will refrain from encouraging this form of collection.

By Order,

B. E. SARGEAUNT,

Government Secretary.
